
Abstract
Simulation has been shown to be an effective teaching strategy. This article describes a method of adapting and modifying a high fidelity patient simulator for use in enabling high fidelity patient simulation and scenario-based learning for hemodialysis.